

VoIP – Voice Over Internet Protocol

Is VoIP right for my company?

VoIP is a great new technology, but it does have its place in the market. A few basic questions can answer the question:

1. Does your company have multiple locations?
2. Do you spend a great deal of money per month on interoffice long distance calls?
3. Do you have employees that work from a remote location?

If you have answered yes to any of the above questions, VoIP may be a solution to consider for your business. Please give us a call to schedule a no cost, no obligation evaluation of your needs. We would be more than happy to explain the benefits that VoIP can bring to your company.